

GREAT LAKES HONOR CODE

The GREAT LAKES HONOR CODE represents a set of ethical principles governing the student community based on ideals and commonly accepted norms of behavior in terms of academic, professional and personal conduct that defines what constitutes honorable behavior among us.

The use of an honor code depends on the notion that people (at least within OUR community) can be trusted to act honorably. Those who are in violation of the honor code can be subject to various sanctions, including expulsion from the institution.

Each member of the association of students of Great Lakes Institute of Management would be held responsible for maintaining his or her integrity and the integrity of the Great Lakes community in all academic and professional matters and in all affairs concerning the community.

As a responsible and HONORABLE member of the Great Lakes community, you are required to pledge on your honor not to lie, cheat, or steal, either in your academic, professional or personal life, and understand that such acts violate the Honor Code and undermine the community of trust, of which we are all stewards.

You pledge to uphold the principles of honesty and responsibility at our Institution, and On Your honor, as a student, neither give nor receive unauthorized aid on academic work. You also pledge that no material (course related or otherwise) shared with you, especially cases, will be reproduced, in part or in whole, or shared with others, inside and outside the college, in any manner, electronic or otherwise.

You will integrity and honesty in all academic, professional and co-curricular activities while at the Institute and participate in every individual and team based assessments and activities with whole hearted commitment, diligence and honesty. You will give credit where it is due and be fair in your feedback of others.

The Honor Code requires that you do not lie, cheat, or steal, nor tolerate those who do and affirm that you shall uphold the highest principles of honesty and integrity in all your endeavors at Great Lakes Institute of Management and foster an atmosphere of mutual respect within and beyond the classroom; to treat others with respect and courtesy or shall take unfair advantage of any other member of the Great Lakes community.

You further are expected to show utmost courtesy and due consideration and respect in your academic and social interactions with due regard to the diversity, sensitivity of the view point of others and maintain and enhance the environmental integrity of the Great Lakes campus.

Declaration

I, _____ (Roll No. _____), have read and understood, without any ambiguity, the Great Lakes Honor Code, and will abide by it at all times.
